IRISH CHIEF TURNS DOWN INVITATION TO LONDON

De Valera Wants Conference Held On Irish Soil

OUTLOOK DARK

Craig And Others Going To Capital To Meet Premier

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 29.—The first shadow on the Irish peace horizon has arisen owing to Sir James Craig informing Mr. de Valera that it is impossible to arrange the proposed meeting in Dublin on July 4 and adding that he had already accepted Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to a conference in London.

Four Southern Unionists viz., the Earl of Midleton, Senator Andrew Jameson and the members of the Imperial House of Commons, Sir Maurice Dockrell and Sir Robert Woods, whom Mr. de Valera invited to Dublin simultaneously with Sir James Craig, have accepted the invitation.

London, June 29.—Mr. de Valera has refused Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to a conference in London, declaring that Irish political differences should be adjusted on Irish soil.

$35,733,000 Paid By Germany To Reparation Fund

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 29.—In the House of Commons today, Lieut. Commander Hilton Young, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, said that $35,732,000 had been received from the German Government to May 31, and $12,000,000 had been received since.

All of this money, he said, has been deposited in the Federal Reserve Bank at New York to the account of the Reparations Commission.

Washington, June 29.—The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, today informed the Senate Committee that there had been no suggestion that the United States should accept the German reparations bonds as a substitute for the Allies' obligations, and that the Treasury did not intend to invite such a proposal.

Hall To Lecture At Victoria Tuesday

In acquiescence to a number of requests, the Kansu earthquake pictures and lecture of Mr. Hall under the title "Where the Mountains walked" will be given again in Shanghai as a matinee at the Victoria Theater on Tuesday afternoon at five. Opportunity will thus be given to those who were unable to be at the Olympic last Tuesday to see the pictures, and a special adaptation of the lecture will be made by Mr. Hall for the children. In addition, a half-hour's entertainment by "funny men" and magicians is being planned.

In order that none may be compelled to stay away owing to the price, the house will be sold at $1 for adults and fifty cents for children under fifteen. Booking may be obtained at Moutrie's.

The pictures will be shown with lecture in Chinese on Saturday night at the Y.M.C.A. hall.

WOOD UNABLE TO FIX DATE FOR HIS VISIT TO CHINA

Volume Of Work In Philippines Makes General's Plans Uncertain

Because of the uncertainty of their movements, and the volume of data being collected in the Philippine Islands regarding the Filipinos' readiness for independance, General Leonard Wood, former Governor W. Cameron Forbes, and staff are unable to advise even approximately when they will arrive in Shanghai.

A letter from General Wood received yesterday by Mr. J. H. Ross, Commandant of the General Frederick Ward Post of the American Legion advises that though the General, Governor Forbes and the party of investigation will surely visit China as a result of the Peking invitation, it is not possible yet to state just when the visit will be made.

The party which will visit Shanghai and China when the investigation tour of the Philippines is competed includes, aside from the General and the ex-Governor, Col. Frank R. McCoy, Col. Gordon Johnston, Major Edwin Bowditch and Lieut. Osborne C. Ward.

Excerpts from General Wood's letter pertaining to the visit to China follow:

"Dated S/s Mindaro,

Fuga Island, Philippine Islands.

"As our movements are uncertain and there is still a considerable volume of work ahead of us I am sorry that I cannot give you even an approximate date as to our arrival in Shanghai, but I sincerely hope that it will be possible to see you in Shanghai on our return trip to the States."

Only One Passenger Ill On Tenyo Maru

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Shanghai, June 30.—A Tokio telegram issued yesterday stated that the T.K.K. liner Tenyo Maru, from Hongkong, via Shanghai, had arrived outside Kobe Harbor with 450 cases of infectious diseases on board.

A telegraphic correction has now been received from Tokio stating that the number of passengers on board the Tenyo Maru on her arrival at Kobe was 540, and that there was one case of plague on board. Apparently the remaining 539 passengers are in good health.

Japanese Want Straits Kept Open

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, June 29.—Mr. Uchida, Japanese High Commissioner at Constantinople, in the course of an interview, stated that Japan was deeply interested in the question of the Straits, which, he said must not be allowed to fall under the domination of any single nation. He is also reported to have declared: "The Turks wish to regain by force of arms those territories they lost in the war. That is impossible."

DEALERS TO KEEP OPEN BUT WILL BE 'OUT' OF RICE

Indirect Strike Now Planned In Fight Against Licensing

COUNCIL IS FIRM

Proclamation Posted, Urging Obedience To New Order

Rice Crisis In Nutshell

The Council has issued a proclamation urging rice dealers not to heed the exhortations of "agitators" to stop their businesses and has re-emphasised that the licensing regulations will not work a hardship on the shop keepers. Protection is promised.

Settlement shops today for the most part are scheduled to keep their doors open—but will politely inform customers that they have little or no rice to sell.

The Frenchtown, Chapei and Nantao rice dealers have agreed to strike on July 5 if their brethren in the Settlement are still out on that date.

More meetings are to be held today.

Special police orders have been issued.

Taking the attitude that the majority of the rice dealers in the Settlement are satisfied of the reasonableness of the new Municipal licensing regulation, but that agitators are working strenuously to bring into effect the strike which has been announced for today, the Municipal Council yesterday issued a proclamation assuring the shop keepers that no hardship is to be worked upon them by the licensing, calling upon them to keep their doors open and promising them protection in case of attempted intimidation.

The rice situation yesterday showed little sign of improvement, though the authorities, foreign and Chinese, were working hard to avert the threatened strike and there were indications that some of the organisations and individuals involved favored at least a postponement of the demonstration in protest to the Council's order. Whether the shops would or would not open their doors this morning was still a matter of debate last night. The concensus of Chinese opinion was that they would close and this too was the belief of many of the officials, but it was hoped that the proclamations issued by the Council and by the Shanghai City Magistrate might have the effect of deferring the strike.

"OUT OF STOCK"

It was stated late last night that many of the shop keepers will today dodge the actual issue by keeping their doors open while informing customers that they cannot sell owing to exhaustion of their stocks. The Nantao and Chapei dealers have repeated their intention of closing shop on July 5—the beginning of the next moon—if the Settlement strike is still on then, and the Frenchtown merchants, at a meeting yesterday, decided to follow the same program.

The local and Chinese authorities are making preparations to meet the situation in case of trouble.

It is the view of the Municipal body that control of the situation has passed from the hands of the rice hongs and guilds into those of political agitators who are now the prime movers in an attempt to induce the shop keepers to ignore the license order. It is hoped that saner counsel among the rice merchants will prevail.

The translated text of the Council's proclamation, copies of which, in Chinese, were posted throughout the city yesterday, is as follows:

"Whereas it is necessary and reasonable in the interests of the people of Shanghai that the food supply should be under proper control

"And whereas it has been decided that all rice shops in the Settlement shall be licensed from July 1.

"Notice is hereby given that this Proclamation is issued notifying all peaceful and law-abiding residents of the Settlement that by reason of the licensing no form of hardship whatever will be inflicted upon the rice shops.

"But for the proper safeguarding of the food of the people, it is

Mexican President Warned Of Madero's Fate

"BEWARE the fate of Francisco Madero, who failed to heed solicitations to change his policy and fell," was the warning sent to President Obregon of Mexico by Liberal-Constitutionalist members of the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate. The warning was contained in a memorial drafted at a caucus of the party and it made pointed charges that two of President Obregon's Cabinet officers had attempted to cause dissatisfaction against the Administration and were using their offices to propagate radicalism. The document was signed by 138 deputies and several Senators.

DISMISSED POLICE ORDERED TO QUIT THEIR QUARTERS

Six Of Eight Discharged Told To Leave Barracks; Engage Counsel

Six of the eight police constables who have been dismissed from the force, following their recent protest to conditions and attempt to resign from the department, were ordered out of quarters at the stations yesterday. The other two, it is understood, will be told to leave barracks today.

The men have engaged legal counsel and intend to fight the issue, contending that having been once requested to send in their resignations by the chief authorities the latter had no right to summarily dismiss them, thus cutting off certain rights of home passage, superannuation etc. which they would otherwise have been entitled to.

Peking Government To Aid In Reopening Of The German Bank

A telegram received here last night from Peking stated that the Central Government has alloted $3,000,000 worth of government bonds for the re-establishment of the former German Bank, which will be known as the Sino-German Bank. One of the organisers of the new institution is a Chinese named Wu Hsin, formerly commercial advisor to the Berlin Government.

DISARMAMENT PLEA IS SENT TO CONGRESS BY HARDING

President "Hopes For Favorable Expression Of Opinion"

SOUNDS NATIONS

Definite Proposition Will Be Made To Powers Later

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, June 29.—President Harding has written to the Republican leader of the House of Representatives saying that he hoped Congress would express a favorable opinion on world disarmament and assuring him that the Executive would give every consideration to such an expression.

The Administration, President Harding's letter continues, has been seeking information regarding the attitude of foreign nations towards disarmament and these inquiries and negotiations will be continued. The time when, and the manner in which, the matter will be formally presented to the foreign governments can only be determined after fuller development of the inquiries already initiated.

Washington, June 29.—The House of Representatives has, by a vote of 340 to 4, adopted Senator Borah's amendment to the Naval Appropriations bill, authorising the President to negotiate with Great Britain and Japan with a view to the reduction of naval construction.

Sinats Confident League Idea Will Revolutionize World

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 30.—Viscount Grey presided at a dinner given last night by the League of Nations Union in honor of the Dominion representatives at present visiting England. There was a large gathering of notable people present, including representatives of all nations adhering to the League of Nations.

In proposing the toast of "The League of Nations," the chairman declared that the British Empire today represented the disappearance of the old idea of central authority and subordination, and the new idea of voluntary co-operation, based on confidence and equal authority. In the same way, he said, the League of Nations represented the disappearance of something old and the embodiment of a new spirit.

Referring to disarmament, Lord Grey urged that negotiations with the United States should be conducted, not with a view to making a bargain, but for the purpose of doing something to diminish world competition.

General Smuts, in responding, said he believed that the idea on which the League of Nations was based would eventually work the greatest revolution that the world had ever seen.

The Maharajah of Outch, one of the Indian delegates, declared that India appreciated her new duties and responsibilities as one of the links in the smaller league of nations which formed the British Empire. India wished nothing better, he said, than the success of the greater League.

Miners Generally Favor Resumption

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 30.—Opinion expressed at miners' meetings in most colliery districts favored the resumption of work. Derbyshire, Scotland, Yorkshire, Leicestershire and Nottinghamshire all recommended acceptance of the owners' terms. The South Wales' miners passed a resolution condemning the miners' executive for ignoring the ballot, and expressing the opinion that they had no option, if the Miners' Federation was to be preserved, but to accept the terms. Wigan was the most notable exception, 6,000 miners unanimously resolving to reject the settlement. At Bannock Chase, 3,000 miners have already resumed work and a big influx is expected today.

Real Live Alligator Found Hanging To Garden Bridge

Reptile Was Quietly Pruning Rose Bushes In Jessfield Park When Pretty Stenographer In Pink Dress Lassoed It With Her Powder Puff

BY JAMES L. BUTTS

HAS anybody missed an alligator?

Or is it that geography, as well as climate, is shifting, with accompanying migrations of flora and fauna?

At any rate a fine six-foot saurian was captured in the Settlement yesterday. In the following manners:

1.—The laodah of a Chinese cargo boat saw the reptile swimming placidly up the Whangpoo just off the Foochow Road jetty. Calling all hands on deck he put off in pursuit. The 'gator dived. The boat stopped. The 'gator reappeared. The boat sped forward. And so on, until eventually the laodah deftly cast a noosed wire about the reptile's snout and it was dragged aboard. After which the doughty skipper of the barge made for shore, dashed to a telephone and informed his employers—the American Trading Company—that he had caught a "young dragon" in the river.

2.—The godown foreman at the American Trading Company warehouses on Kungping Road, while shroffing the building's contents, heard the alligator snoring in a corner. After prodding himself with a pin to dispel illusions, he sent for assistance and sixteen coolies, working under the stimulus of copious bribes, roped the beast, loaded it on a handcart and transported it to the American Trading Company offices on Szechuen Road.

Proof!

3.—The alligator was basking, during an interval of sunlight, on the bunding near Hankow Road when spied by a ricsha coolie. The coolie properly reported the matter to the police. The sight of a policeman about to do something attracted a crowd. The crowd surrounded the slumbering alligator, which, annoyed by the noisy comment, climbed into a ricsha and was driven to the offices of the American Trading Company.

4.—The alligator was ejected from a tramcar on the Bund for proffering light-weight coppers as fare.

5.—The alligator was coming shamelessly along Szechuen Road without a stitch of covering other than a pink umbrella when it was stopped and severely reprimanded by a member of the Moral Welfare Committee. Whereupon it took refuge in the offices of the American Trading Company.

6.—The alligator had fled from a comfortable stall in the Public Gardens and was circulating a petition against the new Bund widening scheme when it was noted by minions of the Council, deprived of pen and paper, cautioned and sent to the American Trading Company by mistake, instead of to the B.A.T.

7.—A young man in the employ of the American Trading Company while going to his wedding yesterday noon found the alligator drowning in one of the pools on Ezra Road and vengefully mailed it back to the office in return for the presents wished on him and his bride by the rest of the staff.

With this entertaining assortment of reports to draw from your investigator went to the offices of the American Trading Company prepared to propound a cutting inquiry as to the company's stock-in-hand of speckled elephants and striped rhinoceroses and then come back to the office and explode the alligator rumor with loud reverberations. But not so. Your investigator was received as nonchalantly as though alligators were a matter of every day occurrence in Shanghai and was led into the compound.

There, sure enough, in a lath screened box and wearing a supremely indifferent expression, was Mr. 'Gator, with a convenient water-tap spraying upon his back. Large slices of a certain brand of ham suspended before his nose failed to elicit any animated signs of desire to sign a testimonial. The critter insisted on keeping his tail so coiled around that it was impossible to take accurate measurements but one of the Chinese staff gave assurances that his weight is 133½ pounds and that he was very vicious when first taken into custody.

Investigation tended to show that the first report received was the more accurate. The reptile was actually snared in the Whangpoo off Foochow Road by the loadah aforementioned.

A number of persons who inspected the catch were of the opinion that the alligator is the same one which was dug up in 1910 when excavation was being made for the Garden Bridge and which has been residing in one of the hothouses thereunto adjacent for the last eleven years. Whether it is actually this particular alligator, which had somehow managed to escape, could not be learned last evening. But even so, it would probably be pious advice to the competitors in the annual river swim that each place an order now for a set of galvanised iron trunks.

RENEWAL OF JAP PACT TO BE DEFERRED INDEFINITELY

Dominions To Let People Take Referendum First

MEANS LONG WAIT

Old Treaty To Remain In Force Pending Negotiations

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 29.—It is expected that the Imperial Conference will conclude its discussion of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance tomorrow. Mr. Meighen, Mr. Hughes, General Smuts, Mr. Massey and the Maharajah of Cutch spoke today.

London, June 29.—It is stated on good authority that probably the question of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty will be postponed for several months—during which time the existing treaty will automatically continue—in order to enable Mr. Hughes and Mr. Meighen to return home and consult their colleagues and, if necessary, obtain a referendum vote of their own people, on the question of upholding or rejecting the proposals which were to be settled by the Imperial Conference.

In connection with the above, Reuter's Agency learns from an authoritative source that discussions are in progress between the British and Japanese Governments with a view to leaving sufficient time adequately to discuss the question of a renewal of the Alliance, but thus far no decision has been reached.

Greeks Lose Town, Massacre Feared

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 29.—At question time in the House of Commons today, Mr. Cecil Harmsworth stated that the Government had received information that the Greeks evacuated the town of Ismidt on the evening of June 27. The town was on fire and great panic prevailed in the district. Numbers of Armenians and neutral Turks were fleeing to Constantinople and there appeared to be considerable danger of massacres resulting from the general confusion, but the Allied High Commissioners were taking all possible steps to prevent outrages.

Paris, June 29.—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber has passed a resolution in favor of the re-establishment of peace in the Near East and declaring that, in view of the Greeks' refusal of the Allies' offer of mediation, France is unable to afford the Greek Government any financial or military aid whatever.

London, June 30.—According to a telegram from Constantinople a widespread plot has been discovered, which, it is believed, was directed by Moscow for the purpose of producing an anti-Allied revolt at Constantinople. The British authorities have arrested a hundred Russians, including three Bolshevik commissaries.

Ban On Beer As Medicine Likely

U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, June 29.—The bill to prohibit the treatment of beer as a medicine will be submitted to the President before July 4, according to Senator Sterling, chairman of the sub-committee in charge of it. The bill passed the House of Representatives yesterday and the Senate referred it to the committee today.

Washington, June 29.—Senator Broussard has introduced an amendment to permit the sale of five percent malt liquors and fifteen percent wine, subject to the approval of the respective states.

SUMMER GARDEN AT ASTOR HOUSE OPENS TOMORROW

Artistic Dancing Pavilion Is Unique Innovation Of Hotels Company

The summer garden at the Astor House with its new and artistic dancing pavilion will be formally opened tomorrow.

The Shanghai Hotels Ltd. has spared no expense in providing this cool and delightful social retreat which is an innovation in the Far East—as there is nothing of the kind on this side of the Pacific.

Skilled artisans have been at work for several months on the Pavilion which in its architectural features follows the simple and classical doric style with doric columns, ornamental frieze and carved supports. The dancing floor is excellent. The illuminating system is unique including inverted and novelty lights.

Through the summer months the management will feature tea dansants from 5 to 7 o'clock every day, except Saturday and Sunday, when ice cream and cold drinks, as well as tea will be served. There will be dancing every evening, except Sunday beginning at 9:30 o'clock. The Astor House Hotel orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Earl Currens, will supply, in addition to his famous brand of "jazz" music, classical selections and other musical features between dances.

A glass covered promenade leads direct from the main lobby of the Hotel to the pavilion, so that showers will in no way interfere with the dancing.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Fedorhoff, the management have succeeded in engaging several star artistes of the Russian Grand Opera Company now appearing at the Lyceum Theater, and they will render operatic selections during the evening.

A special dinner de luxe will be served both on Saturday night and the 4th of July commencing at 8 o'clock.

Bedford, Standard Oil Chief, Says U.S. Must Lose Isolation

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 30.—Presiding at a dinner given by the Government to the Congress of the International Chambers of Commerce last night, Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, declared that he saw at least the flickerings of a new order of British industries, and said he hoped there would be a revival by the autumn. He pointed out that the nations of the world were interdependent and that the future prosperity of the world depended upon the solution of the credits question. A start had been made in this connection he said, but a more necessary new plan had been devised giving a wider scope.

Mr. Bedford, Chairman of the Standard Oil Company, replying on behalf of the American delegation, stated that the United States saw that in the future it must cast in its lot with business men throughout the world and take risks outside its national boundaries.

General Arrested By Chang Tso-lin

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 29.—A telegram from Mukden states that General Ting Chow, who has been discharging the duties of Tuchun of Heilungkiang during the absence of General Wu Chung-sheng at Mukden, was arrested by General Chang Tso-lin on June 25 when he arrived at Mukden. General Ting, it is stated, is suspected of being concerned with General Keng Tsai-tien, who is now under arrest, in a plot to hinder the carrying out of the Mongolian expedition.

Russo-Asiatic Co. Has Soviet Claims

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 28.—The first annual report of the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated Co. shows a debit balance of £47,822 carried forward. The report mentions that claims for £56,000,000 (? £56,000) against the Russian Soviet authorities have been filed with the Foreign Office, and that negotiations are continuing for the return of the Company's properties which the Soviet has confiscated.

Note.—Local Russian business circles are not acquainted with any company of the name of the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated Co. It is thought that the concern referred to may be the Russo-Asiatic Company, a Danish firm, with headquarters in Copenhagen, but with a large number of British shareholders, which formerly operated on a considerable scale in Siberia, exporting chiefly dairy produce. This Company may have been re-formed last year as a British concern.

In any case it is pointed out that no enterprise in Siberia, with the exception of the Lena Goldfields, owned properties worth anything like £56,000,000 and that the figure given in the telegram must be erroneous.

Political Line-Up In Central China

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, June 26.—The muddle of Chinese politics in Central China has assumed quite a new aspect. The authorities of Hunan at Changsha are reported to have joined hands again with Dr. Sun Yat-sen of the Southern Government. General Li Lieh-chun, former Military Governor of Kiangsi, and General Chao Heng-ti, Commander-in-Chief of Hunan, taking advantage of the unsettled state of things, are mobilising troops in Hunan for an attack on the provinces of Hupeh and Kiangsi.

In Hankow, Kuomintang agents have been discovered in the foreign concessions conspiring against the tottering Tuchun, General Wang Chuan-yuan.

It is evident therefore that southern leaders are endeavoring to capture the supremacy of the Central Yangtze Valley by deposing General Wang Chuan-yuan, the Super-Tuchun.

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 29.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Kenyon (Radical) called attention to what he described as an official Japanese statement that there ought to be a political as well as a financial consortium of Powers in regard to China.

Rice Dealers To Strike Indirectly

necessary that all rice shops shall indicate at stated times the amount of rice in their possession, so that when a sufficiency of rice is not obtainable, steps may be taken to assure that more supplies are obtainable, so that the price of rice shall be kept as low as possible.

WARNS AGAINST AGITATORS

"Now therefore the Council hereby gives notice that certain unprincipled persons have represented that these measures are in the nature of extortionate demands and, by intimidation and other means, they are attempting by force or threat to interfere with the business of reputable rice dealers.

"Warning is accordingly given notifying all residents of the Settlement that no credence should be given to rumors which are designed to stir up animosity and foment trouble.

"No rice shop will be interfered with in the lawful conduct of its business nor will visits by the Police to rice shops be necessary if the Guilds concerned furnish correct information from time to time of the amount of rice which they control in the Settlement.

"The Council's object is to take all steps possible to secure that rice which is the chief food of the people, shall be kept at a reasonable price and except for the obligation to produce the license when required to do so, to show that the shop is registered to pay $1 per half year for registration, no peaceful shopkeeper will be interfered with in any way in the proper conduct of his business.

"Shopkeepers and merchants accordingly are advised to keep their places open to public business, those doing so will receive every protection, and in case of intimidation enforcing the closing of shops and places of business, such should be reported immediately to the nearest Police Station, whereupon any person found contravening the terms of this warning or interfering with well disposed shop keepers will be punished without the least leniency.

"Warning is duly given; let all obey."

SHEN APPEALS AGAIN

The City Magistrate, Shen Pao-chang, made another effort yesterday to keep the Nantao and Chapei shop keepers from participating in the strike. He appealed to the dealers to keep their establishments open and stated that Defense Commissioner Ho Fung-ling has also expressed himself as disfavoring the present licensing scheme and has delegated a representative to discuss the matter with the Council. Pending further discussions he asks that no action be taken.

There were a number of meetings of various local organisations yesterday which took up the rice question, some condemning the Council, others advocating postponement of action until further endeavors toward a settlement have failed.

The Nantao and Settlement Chambers of Commerce held a joint meeting yesterday afternoon and there will be another meeting today.

The Amalgamated Association of Street Unions has directed messages to the Diplomatic Body at Peking and to the Municipal Council urging that the licensing regulations be cancelled and stating that matters are at a deadlock here.

HOLD COUNCIL RESPONSIBLE

All conferences thus far, this organisation states to the diplomatic corps, have failed. They inquire if the Municipality takes the responsibility, declaring the Council to be entirely to blame for the situation, owing to its "arbitrary action and refusal to give heed to public opinion."

The Union's letter to the Council, as reported in the Chinese press, sets forth that the rice merchants' guild has decided that all shops in the Settlement shall cease business on July 1 while those in Frenchtown and the Chinese city are to close subsequently and remain closed until the demand for cancellation of the licensing regulation is acceded to. This, the association fears, will result in acts of lawlessness by the people.

"You are responsible for the protection of all residents of the Settlement," the letter continues. "At the present juncture you should cancel the recently drafted rules. By so doing you will turn danger into peace; otherwise trouble will immediately ensue, for which you will be held responsible."

A number of shops yesterday declined to make sales to customers, stating that they had no rice, and it is believed that in fact a good many of the establishments in the Settlement had cleaned out their stores. The price of rice yesterday was $11.80 per picul for best quality.

No buying was recorded among the local shops and considerable rice previously held here was sent out to Nantao and Chapei.

Mixed Court Jottings

There were twenty-five traffic cases before the special traffic court yesterday, twenty-one of them involving motor vehicles. The driver of a motor truck who was charged with improper driving on Seward Road, drew the heaviest penalty of the day—$100 fine, or one month's imprisonment—the court commenting that he was unfit to hold a driver's license. Four other chauffeurs were fined $25 each on charges of improper driving.

The three Chinese lads charged in connection with the death of another boy who was assaulted near the Anglo-Chinese Cotton Mill, on Lay Road, last week were handed over to the custody of their parents yesterday and a dispatch warrant was ordered to issue for the arrest of two older boys who are believed to have been the principals in the assault. The latter have fled from the city.

A Chinese stopped by a police search party on Avenue Edward VII Wednesday night and found to be in possession of a pound of opium was fined $10. He said that he was walking along with a friend and that the latter asked him to carry the package. He didn't know what it contained and the friend decamped when the police appeared.

Sanitary Inspector Kilner appeared yesterday to prosecute a Chinese butcher, whose shop is at 63 North Szechuen Road, on the charge of having pork for sale which had not been prepared at the Municipal slaughter house. The defendant pleaded that the pork had been prepared there but that, as it had been placed in pickle, the marks had been removed. He was fined $25 and cautioned.

SURRENDER TO CHANG TSO-LIN IS COSTLY TO PEKING

New Inspector - Generalship Created When There Were Three Too Many

(Asia News Service)

Peking, June 28.—It was a costly transaction by which the Central Government kept the good will of General Chang Tso-lin and calmed him when he had his last tantrum. China had to create another Inspector Generalship when sub-rosa it is quite generally admitted in official circles that she had three too many. Now she has four, the last one being an Inspector-General at large. It is General Kiang Kwei-ti, Tutung of Jehol, who has consistently opposed the appointment of Chang Tso-lin as Defense Commissioner of Mongolia. He has been offered the place as Inspector General of the National Army.

General Chang refused to co-operate with Kiang and Kiang refused to recognise the authority of Chang. Accordingly Chang telegraphed the Government that it must get rid of Kiang or he, Chang Tso-lin, would not rescue Urga from the Russians.

Chang has shown such zeal in the rescue project and in asking for funds to finance it, that the Government felt it was due him to dismiss the Tutung. The Tutung however is old, of much honor and glory in military affairs, so a place had to be found for him. He could have created a mean political situation had he so desired.

It is now understood that Kiang will accept. If he does it will mend matters for a time but there are those who are wondering what will happen at the next Super-Tuchunal conference. Kiang is not to have a special district but he will move around the country, instilling discipline into the soldiers with the aim of eventually building up a real national army. Just how much of his work will be in Manchuria is not predicted.

The Tutungship according to the Government's plan is to go to General Chi King-shun, commander of the 27th Division of the Fengtien troops. This has apparently satisfied Chang though the Government's latest message to him may not prove so satisfactory.

The Government has sent Mr. Wang Nai-ping, Minister of Agriculture and Commerce to Mukden to tell Chang that it is poor and can give him no more money and that he should equip and finance the Urga expedition out of his own funds. The Government promises to reimburse him when its ship comes in. The date is indefinite.

Chang, it is said, on hearing that General Kiang was to be removed assumed the office of Defense Commissioner of Mongolia on June 25 and asked the Government to notify all officials to that effect.

MAY ENDOW MOTHERHOOD

New South Wales Premier Says His Government Plans To Try It

New York, May 29.—The present conditions in Australia are far better than they are in England, according to Premier John Storey of New South Wales, who is at the Hotel Pennsylvania. While wages are higher in Australia, housing conditions are much better and the cost of living is cheaper.

"The reasons for the difference in conditions can easily be explained," said Mr. Storey. "While there is no real shortage of labor in Australia, in the rural districts the law of supply and demand operates to maintain a high wage standard which has been granted by the Industrial Argitration Court. The cities and towns of Australia are much smaller than those in England and therefore the price of land is not nearly so high. Our Australian workers have their little cottages with gradens around them and most of them are within walking distance of their work.

"The Government of New South Wales aids workmen in owing their own homes, for it will advance 95 percent of the purchase price at an easy rate of interest, and repayment is spread over a term of twenty-five years. Since Australia is a producing country with an exportable supply of wheat, meat and dairy products, the cost of living is cheaper than in many other countries.

"In its Legislautre Australia is extremely advanced. At the next Parliament it is the intention of my Government to introduce a bill providing for the endowment of motherhood. Every mother will receive from the State a sum equal to $1.50 of American money for each child, and if she is a widow, an allowance of $3.50 a day. When you bear in mind that it costs very much less to live in Australia than in America, it will be seen that this is a very substantial provision. We have a splendid system of free public schools, day nurseries and kindergartens, and it is possible for a child in Australia of very poor parents to quality for a university and to take his degree without any expense to himself or his parents."

Attractions At The Theaters

AMONG current theatrical offerings a production that comes as a complete novelty is the picture "Abuse of Rich Ornaments" that opens for a week's engagement tonight at the Olympic Theater. For some weeks the picture was shown exclusively for Chinese audiences in one of the leading picture houses of the Native City where it proved to be a sensation. It is a story from real life, the incidents of which are based on the circumstances attending the dramatic murder here about a year ago of Lieh Ying, one of China's leading sing-song girls, and the scenes and setting of the whole production were photographed in Shanghai. The picture was produced by the Chinese Motion Picture Society.

AT THE VICTORIA

Eisie Ferguson appears as star in the feature offering of tonight's program at the Victoria theater. This is "Heart of the Wilds," a thrilling story of the Canadian northland.

HAROLD LLOYD POPULAR

The week-end bill at the Apollo theater brings back Harold Lloyd and Mildred Davis in a new comedy picture, "High and Dizzy," which is said to be the best picture in which the comedians have been seen. The program includes also "The Dear Departed," another comedy in which Harry Pollard appears as star. This production is featured with a galaxy of about twenty 'Vanity Fair girls.'

ISIS THEATER

Opening tonight at the Isis theater the chief offering will be a new Universal picture "The Sealed Envelope," a drama of political life filled with human interest and swift action. As a special matinee feature the D. W. Griffith picture which has scored such a signal success here, The Idol Dancer, is to be repeated Saturday at the Isis. Further episodes of the serial "Pearl of the Army" will be shown at the Isis on the matinee program for Sunday.

GRAND OPERA TROUPE

The second performance of The Russian Grand Opera Company, which opened an engagement at the Lyceum theater last night, will be given tonight. The success scored last night with Gounod's Faust indicates that packed houses will greet the company throughout its engagement. 'Carmen' will be given tonight, La Traviata on Saturday night and an exceptional list of offering will be presented through next week.

ST. GEORGE'S THEATER

"The Law of Compensation" is the feature offering of the week-end program at St. George's open air cinema. This is a strong six-part drama in which Norma Talmadge appears as star.

FRUIT AND THE CHILDREN
A Word of Warning.

Sound ripe fruit is good for children, but damaged or over-ripe fruit is exceedingly dangerous, especially at this time of year, causing diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, indigestion and worms.

When you have reason to suspect that your child has eaten fruit of a doubtful character the best course is to administer a dose of Baby's Own Tablets at once, for these Tablets quickly but gently cleanse the stomach and bowels, and can be given with absolute safety even to the youngest or most delicate infant.

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are also a specific for teething troubles, constipation, colds, and croup. They bring calm, natural, health-giving sleep and promote regular development. From chemists, or direct and post free at 60 cents the vial from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Grand Opera

The Russian Grand Opera Company was welcomed back to Shanghai last night by an appreciative audience that filled the Lyceum Theater and warmly applauded the initial production of Faust. It was evident that the company lost nothing in vocal excellence during its absence from Shanghai and that it gained much from the standpoint of stagecraft. There was none of the amentable tackiness that spoil so many local productions, the opera being well-costumed and presentably staged.

Mr. Daniloff, who sang the role of Faust, is well-known to Shanghai and is also famous on the opera stage of Moscow and Petrograd. Special credit for the success of the opera should go to Mr. Karlash, who, as Mephistophele, gave full play to his remarkable bass voice. Miss Valentinova, who appeared as Siebel, is a newcomer to the Far East, although she is widely known in continental Europe. Miss Mashir made an effective Marguerite, for in addition to having a voice of rare charm, she has a personal endowment that does not tempt the auditor to close his eyes in order to enjoy the opera. Miss Fischer as Martha did what she could with a small comedy part.

In addition to the principals, the company includes an orchestra of twenty-five conducted by Mr. Feurst and Mr. Feveisky, and an ample chorus.

Tonight's offering will be Carmen with Miss Burskaia in the title role.

New Machine Gun Penetrates Tanks

Ordnance Department Perfects Weapon That At 200 Yards Pierces Inch Armor

Rock Island, Ill., May 28.—The United States Army has developed a .50 calibre machine-gun capable of firing a bullet which, at 200 yards, will penetrate the one-inch armor plate of battle tanks, Major Lee O. Wright, army ordnance department, announced today at the annual convention of the ordnance section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at Rock Island Arsenal.

The new weapon is an outgrowth of the war, he said, when fighting tanks were armored to resist the .30 calibre bullet of the rifles and machine-guns then in use.

The .50 calibre machine-gun fires a bullet weighing 800 grains, as compared to the 150 grains of the standard .30 calibre ammunition.

The gun is modeled along the plan of the Browning machine-gun developed during the war and weighs sixty-five pounds. The gun has a muzzle velocity of 2,500 feet a second and an effective range of from 6,000 to 7,000 yards.

In testing the new gun and ammunition the ordnance department has built a rifle range at the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds, consisting of a pool of water 1,000 yards long and a narrow gauge railroad track running back 7,000 yards.

America's supply of walnut for gun stocks has been so nearly exhausted, Major Wright said, that the ordnance department is now experimenting with stocks built up from thin layers of walnut cemented together.

Among pending cases in the United States Court for China is an action recently filed by Thomas Rolph and Henry B. Mills of California, doing business under the firm name of Rolph, Mills and Company against Fearon, Daniel and Company. The plaintiff alleges that the sum of Gold $6,009.47 is due from the Shanghai office of Fearon, Daniel and Company and the sum of Gold $5,293.65 is due from the company's Tientsin office as the result of business transactions extending through the years 1919 and 1920. Rodger and Haskell represent the plaintiffs in the action, which was filed on June 23.

ARMED ROBBERY

Armed robbers raided a place in the Yangtszepoo district last night, securing money and valuables to the total value of about $40. The robbery was committed at 1230 Rangoon Road by three men, one of whom was armed with a revolver. One shot was fired but no one was injured.

HURON AND ALBANY TEAMS BEGIN SERIES TODAY TO SELECT TEAM FOR JULY 4

Doubleheader Set For Tomorrow And Sunday With Shanghai Opposing Gunboat Quiros In Second Half; Yesterday's Game Nineteenth Cancelled By Rain

FOR the nineteenth time since baseball started this year a scheduled game was postponed yesterday when the noon-time rain and the afternoon mist made the match between the Shanghai Baseball Club's team and the U.S.S. Albany impossible.

Manager Ross, who has done all of the match-making this spring yesterday was on the verge of asking "What's the use?" He had booked the local team with everybody and everything that has come along since the season officially opened, and out of 30 games scheduled 19 have not been played, principally because of rain.

The way baseball stands right now is like this: There are but three days remaining before the big game on the Fourth of July, and the Huron and the Albany must play off a three-game series to decide which of the two may represent the Navy in the cup contest with Shanghai. And these three days, beginning today at 3 p.m., must be given to the navy boys for the struggle for a chance at the big honors.

Shanghai ballplayers, however, will be given their chance for a game or two Saturday and Sunday, opposed on both days by the Gunboat Quiros, which has been in the market for a match against the local boys for some time, but which through postponements, etc, have never yet had a chance to show on the field in playing uniform.

The last schedule of baseball that the baseball managers have concocted follows:

TODAY

Huron vs. Albany at 3 p.m.

TOMORROW

Huron vs. Albany at 2:15 p.m.
Shanghai vs. Quiros at 4:15 p.m.

SUNDAY

Huron vs. Albany at 2:15 p.m.
Shanghai vs. Quiros at 4:15 p.m.

MONDAY

The big Fourth of July cup Game, Shanghai versus the winner of the Huron-Albany series.

Should it rain today and tomorrow and Sunday which is not at all unlikely, it may yet be that the two star navy teams will have to decide which shall meet Shanghai on the Fourth by the flip of a coin, or a shake out of the old dice box over one of our leading bars.

The baseball program for the Fourth of July game calls for a band from the Flagship, an individual score card for every fan, by compliment of Anderson, Meyer and Co., who wish to give every fan the opportunity to score the game to his own liking, a company or more of Boy Scouts to serve as ushers, a section of the stand reserved each for Consul General E. S. Cunningham, for Judge C. S. Lobingier and court staff, and for Admiral Joseph Straus and staff and naval officers.

The schedule of games which the local management has been trying to arrange both prior and after the big game on the Fourth, has been tentatively set aside by Lieut. Johnson, the baseball officer of the Flagship. "It will be impossible," he wrote to Manager Ross, of the Shanghai Baseball Club, "to carry out the schedule outlined." The Lieutenant stresses the point that games with Shanghai prior to the Holiday are not possible because of the shortness of time. "But after these games," he continues, "we may arrange some sort of schedule though we must go slowly as we have but one pitcher, and must schedule our team to suit his capacity."

The schedule that was submitted included games with Shanghai opposing the Huron and the Albany on alternate playing dates up until July 10, the date on which both ships leave port for Chefoo.

NEEDLES VICTIM OF NOVEL PUNCH

BY 'BUGS' BAER

Dear Sir: Let me buzz you how Gink Fowler got notorious. He met my man, Needles Pinz, and was slapped sour. Needles beat him like a hobo beating his fare. Like Lord Buron, Gink went to sleep in the first round ond woke up famous.

It is impossible to deny this, so I know you will.

Yours from Alaska. May the distance never grow less.

GEORGE WARNER.

That's the old minnows. Needles was just a round cut who lived thirty years before he knew that folks put butter on bread. He was as crooked as a shanty chimney. He eased into Roughtown by disguising himself as a census taker. He took the census, four overcoats and the air.

Just across the river from Roughtown was the unpleasant little burg of Riffraff. Compared with either of these towns, Hades was just a preparatory college. An argument with machine guns was considered just a quiet little chat. Shubert never grabbed any of his chorus men in these two towns.

Needles claimed the championship of both Roughtown and Riffraff. All the whistles on the peanut stands were blown for three days. The three-alarm dinner bell was sounded. Gink went into training. He was very strict in his diet and ate nothing he couldn't reach. He drank nothing but liquids.

The champion was in superb shape the day of the fight. Gink's friends were so confident he would win that they bet all their jack on Needles. The battle was shorter than an oyster's neck. Gink put the bulldoze on Needles with a left punch with his right hand. History was being made. Nobody had ever delivered a left wallop with the right mitt before.

George McManus claims that Tom Powers is so old that he has arrow marks on his back. Tom claims George was the first man across the Brooklyn bridge. But neither one ever heard of a left uppercut being slung with the right arm.

The committee turned in a minority report. They were jolly little beggars. The fight was declared a draw and Gink Fowler was awarded the decision.

After that, Gink pulled on his congress gaiters with grim determination and went out to battle The Glutt. Nations awaited the result with trembling snores.

WARWICKSHIRE FARES WELL WITH AUSTRALIANS

Total Of 262 Runs Compiled In First Innings

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 29.—At Birmingham today in brilliant and hot weather, and before an attendance of some 10,000, the Australians opened a match against Warwickshire, and not against the Midland Counties, as originally arranged.

Warwickshire took first innings and by confident batting compiled 262, the Rev. E. F. Waddy, formerly of New South Wales, contributing 50, for which he was warmly applauded, the fielders joining in. Hendry took four wickets for 64, and Ryder three for 62.

The Australians made 148 for four wickets before stumps were drawn, Bardsley hitting up 60, which included ten fours, while giving two chances. The Warwickshire fielding was poor.

Mr. W. W. Armstrong, the Australian captain, has received eleven gold medals from Mr. F. R. Spofforth, the well-known Australian cricketer of the last generation, for the players who participated in the hundredth test match, which was played at Nottingham on the 28th of last month.

Secretary William R. Durbin, Honored By Gobs On Eve Of Departure, To Be In Charge—Work To Be Under Direction Of Shanghai Body

During the Summer months and while the American warships are at Chefoo the Young Men's Christian Association will maintain welfare work there for the men of the fleet. An assembly hall will be provided for games, library, entertainments and picture shows. There will be a restaurant, canteen, money exchange, information counter and other features. An athletic field for baseball and other sports has been secured and athletic material will be provided.

This work will be under the supervision of the Advisory Committee of the Shanghai Navy Y. M. C. A. and in connection with a local Advisory Committee at Chefoo.

Mr. William R. Durbin leaves shortly for Chefoo and will represent the Shanghai Navy "Y" Committee there. Mr. W. M. Cornwell of Chefoo is now preparing the buildings and grounds for the work and will be engaged in the work this Summer.

A number of experienced young ladies will assist in the entertainment and services to be arranged. Among these are Miss L. Willis, of the National Committee Y. W. C. A., Miss Hazel M. Shoub, Miss Frances Taylor, all of Shanghai, and Miss Grace Maddux of Kiukiang.

From time to time it is hoped that quantities of books, magazines and other literature may be sent to Chefoo for the use of the Navy men who will have much time for reading. The Navy Y. M. C. A. will be glad to call for such material. Phone Central 2005 or it may delivered at the "Y," 6 Avenue Edward VII.

A most pleasant surprise was given to Mr. Durbin, the retiring secretary of the Navy Y. M. C. A. Last evening after the "Y" show, Chaplain A. J. Hayes of the Flagship Huron presented him with a beautiful Howard gold watch, a fine gold chain and gold pencil as an expression of appreciation from the men of the Asiatic Fleet.

Joe Lynch, the Bantam weight champion, lost a technical decision in his bout with Joe Burman Saturday night. The opinion of the press at the ringside gave the verdict to the challenger.

SCALPERS BUYING BIG FIGHT TICKETS

Reserve Fifty Dollar Seats Are Sold In Short Order

New York, May 19.—Before the great arena on Boyle's thirty acres over in Jersey City is one-third completed, most of the fifty dollar seats are sold—some in batches worth thousands of dollars—and a lot of them are reappearing in the scalpers' agencies along Broadway. Ex-service men out of jobs and young girls picked up in employment agencies have been used to represent scalpers in the ticket lines at the box office windows and buy seats for which the wealthy fans will have to pay a stiff premium over the price.

Several extra rows of fifty-dollar seats have been sandwiched into the plan since the original blueprints were made. At the present rate of sale these will all be gone in a short time. The fight looks like a sure sell out for the reserved sections and the five-dollar seats are bound to go like cut-price gold ingots at a Caledonian convention.

Carpentier Shows Flying K. O. Punch

Manhasset, N. Y., May 28.—In the presence of his trainers and a few personal friends Georges Carpentier displayed this afternoon some of the ring cunning with which he hopes to win the world's heavyweight boxing championship.

In a full three minute round with Italian Joe Gans the challenger tried his speed. Carpentier appeared to be developing a shift patterned after that for which Stanley Ketchel was famous.

Then came the tall Paul Journee for two rounds. The challenger went to work himself and displayed his flying knockout punch. When preparing to launch this blow Carpentier assumed a half crouch, keeping his body as far away from his opponent's as possible. From the half crouch Georges went almost to a full bend, then leaped upward with an overhand right. Recovering quickly, he used an uppercut.

LENGTH OF COMING CONTEST LIMITED TO TWELVE ROUNDS, FACTOR FAVORING CARPENTIER

Would Corbett Still Be Heavyweight Champion If He Had Engaged In Nothing But Short Distance Fights? Expert Asks

BY TAD

Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier meet in a twelve round contest for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The short limit of the thing invites discussion. In a twenty-five round or a finish contest there would be nothing to it but Dempsey. As it is, the clever Carpentier's chances look bright.

Looking back over former heavyweight champions we see nothing but Jim Corbett when we think of twelve round championship battles.

Won't you admit that Corbett would still be heavyweight champion if he engaged in nothing but twelve round fights?

He never would have lost to Fitzsimmons for he was leading a mile at the end of the twelfth stanza.

He never would have lost to Jeffries for he was a mile in front at the twelfth round. It was the distance that killed Corbett.

The clever boxer stands head and shoulders above his husky opponent in a limited bout.

Phil Jack O'Brien was almost unbeatable in the short distance fights.

Jim Driscoll and Abe Attell were marvels on the short tracks.

Young Griffo was seldom touched in the six and ten round bouts.

Kid McCoy could make most heavies look silly for the first ten rounds.

Jack Dempsey, of course, has never fought more than twelve rounds. His fights usually end in the first or second rounds but then those battles were with slow moving vehicles.

Jack has never faced a moving target such as the French marvel.

Jack has never swung at such a fast piece of boxing machinery.

He doesn't know what it means to miss twice in succession.

We can't say that Dempsey and Carpentier resemble Sullivan and Corbett for Dempsey is a much faster man than the great John L. was.

He carries the same punch, but he's a great deal faster.

The clever lads like Carpentier are sweet when not molested in the short bouts, but sting them once and they're slowed up to a walk.

Will Carpentier be able to dance and elude the champion after he's stung? Can he stand the gaff? Gunboat Smith dropped him; why can't Dempsey? Bombardier Wells made him kiss the canvass; why not Dempsey?

Carpentier, while extremely clever, is no Griffo. He wouldn't be able to stand on a handkerchief and allow Jack to swing at him. He's clever, yes, but he loves to get in and trade socks. He's a fighter. He can take it and then get up and win. He was on the floor with Smith, but managed to win anyway. Wells had him down, too, but he got up and finished Wells in the same round.

With Dempsey, though, it will be a bit different. His opponents may get up, but they're never the same after taking one of his wallops on the kisser.

American 50-Yard Swim Record For Women Is Broken

Honolulu, May 28.—Mariechen Wesselau of the Outrigger Club of Honolulu and Ethelda Bleibtrey of New York broke the American amateur record for the fifty-yard women's open race here last night, when they swam the distance in 28 4-5 seconds, tying for first place. The meet was sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union.

The best time made heretofore in this race was made by Olga Dorfner in a tank, two turns, at Philadelphia, February 17, 1917. Her time was 29 seconds.

W. W. Harris of the Outrigger Club, won the fifty-yard men's junior outdoor championship in the time of 24 4-5 seconds.

(Harris is well known in Manila and won several of the open swimming events held in connection with the Far Eastern Championships at Shanghai in 1915.)

Carpentier And Dempsey Both Early Birds At Work; Waste No Daylight In Camp

All Business When In Training And Frenchman Likes Solitude, Champion Talks Golf When There's No Battle Toward

BY ROBERT EDGREN

Twenty years ago it was all the fashion to tell funny stories about Tom Sharkey. Here now comes Tim McGrath. Tom's old side kick, with nerve enough to tell this as a "new one on Sharkey."

Tom, Tim says, once had an ambition to become a fight promoter. So he leased and opened a club at Vallejo, where he had his first fights ashore when a sailor in the United States Navy. Tom asked Tim to help him by coming in as matchmaker.

Tim agreed.

He got up a card for Tom's first show by matching a bunch of boys from San Francisco. Around town a lot of Tim's pals asked him to take them to the fight.

"Well, I'll try," said Tim, obligingly, "but you know Sharkey. He'll be there at the door himself and a cat couldn't get in without buying a ticket. You guys do as I say and I'll see if I can work it."

Tim arrived at Vallejo with about fifty guests, and Tom hadn't issued any Annie Oakleys. He marshaled his bunch around the corner, divided it into two parties of about twenty-five each, and at the head of the first division walked up to the gate. There was Sharkey barring the entrance with one eye on the box office.

"Hello, Tom," said Tim, and ducked in. The twenty-five followed with a rush. Sharkey barred the way and yelled to Tim, "Hey, what this bunch?"

"Oh, that's all right," said Tim, carelessly, "they're the seconds."

As the first bunch disappeared the second came up and dashed into the doorway without offering to visit the ticket office.

"Hey, Tim," yelled Sharkey, "who are these guys?"

"All right, Tom—more seconds," called back Tim.

"Well, if these are the seconds who've you got fighting," roared Sharkey, "the North and the South?"

HE HAD EXPERIENCE

Apparently the only guy who hasn't come out with a statement that Carpentier will razz Dempsey if he pokes Jack before Jack can poke him, is Jess Willard. Jess hit the first punch at Toledo. He hit Jack on the nose, where a first punch usually does a lot of good. All Jess ever knew about the rest of the fight is what was told him by sympathetic friends.

SMITH NOT AGGRESSIVE

Jeff Smith is challenging Middleweight Champion Johnny Wilson. Smith has a fine, long record, has beaten a lot of first-class men, is a great boxer and looks like all the class in the world when he steps into the ring. Yet, when you've seen Smith you have a feeling of disappointment.

The fighting class is so evidently there. He doesn't lack a thing in the world. He is in fact cool, very skilful, a hard hitter who places his blows effectively, perfect in defense, strong and well built, able to outfight nine-tenths of the middleweights easily. But he lacks something.

The public likes to see a boxer who shows a little fire. Smith is too scientifically perfect, and too well content to go along and play the game safely.

I saw him at Madison Square Garden when he lost a decision to Mike O'Dowd. Personally, I thought Smith won, though with little to spare. He outboxed O'Dowd with ease, wasn't in any trouble himself, and had Mike worried with a few hard body blows. But Mike was the aggressor. Clumsy, lumbering, no boxer at all, he carried the fight to Smith until Smith became so cautious that he lost all chance to win with a knockout.

I saw Smith in his first important fight, years ago. It was with Mike Gibbons. Smith had looked a world beater until he met Mike. Mike went after him, and Smith dropped back to the defensive and stayed there.

If Jeff Smith could go out every time to "take a chance" he'd soon be either world's champion or forgotten.

Better that than skirting along the edge with the "challengers."

HOBOKEN MAY BE JARRED

In a few days Carpentier's training will be going along at top speed in his new quarters on Long Island. Joe Jeanette will help by putting on the gloves with Georges, and between rounds telling the newspaper men how Georges, when he was only 18, knocked Joe down so hard in Paris that they felt the jar in Hoboken.

A HARD WORKER

Carpentier, unlike many fighters, doesn't want to train in front of a crowd. Not that Georges is at all coy. He likes to work as quietly as possible, because he always works hard and he doesn't want anything to interfere with concentrating on the matter of getting into condition and planning his fight.

He is a light-hearted, happy-go-lucky fellow when he isn't training for a fight. But once in the training camp he is all cold, hard business.

He is always up at sunrise ready for work, and he fires any sparring partner who shows an inclination to stick to the hay and waste daylight. If any man in Carpentier's camp is not as interested as Carpentier in putting over a winner, Georges has no use for him.

There's no "society stuff" when the Frenchman settles down to work.

DEMPSEY IS THE SAME

Good deal the same way with Dempsey. He's another early bird; first on the road, first to pull on the gloves, first to call for a ball game between training periods, first into bed at night.

At least that's the way Dempsey was at Toledo, and I don't think being a champion has changed Jack much. He has been changed less by being a champion than any other title holder I remember.

You could be with Dempsey a week when he isn't training for a fight and you'd never hear him mention the fact that he is the kingpin of all the word's heavyweights and can knock the rest of 'em kickin.'

Played a little golf with Jack a while ago. Know what he talked about? Nothing in the world, but how he wants to sock the ivorypainted pellet 300 yards and be good enough to challenge Babe Ruth.

AMERICAN LEAGUE OBJECTS TO ROSIN

Suggestion Made By National League Will Not Go Through

The proposal to allow big league pitchers to dry their fingers on a bag of rosin, placed back of the box by the umpire and under the latter's watchful eye, will not be adopted.

This was a National League suggestion, which organisation thought, and still thinks, it would have helped the pitching by giving the pitchers better control.

Glossy surfaces have increased the difficulty of getting a good grip on the orb. Umpires put in some minutes before each game rubbing off the gloss, but that has not proved entirely satisfactory, although it helps.

So the National Leaguers, at their recent meeting and with a desire to improve conditions and therefore the game, favored the bag of rosin scheme and hoped the American League would join with them in putting it in operation.

President Heydler of the National, however, has had word from Ban Johnson, who sits in the American League executive chair, that that august personage and his magnates do not cotton to the [illegible] What appears to be a practical remedy they turn down, though "they hope to find some other way" of making the ball more tractable for pitchers.

If the American League won't consent to a rosin bag for its pitchers the National won't. The latter wants no advantage over its rival, nor does it purpose putting its pitchers in a position whereby they would be handicapped, by the non-use of rosin, in the world's series.

If any pitcher is using rosin now on the ball he is doing it on the sly. He might have it on his uniform or concealed in some manner not detected, but umpires are using their eyes, and any pitcher making a move that looks as if he might be breaking the rules, though the move may be an entirely innocent one, is warned promptly not to do it again.

British Flower Shop Adds $4,000 To Its Donations

At the annual meeting of shareholders of the British Flower Shop yesterday donations amounting to $4,000 were authorised, these bringing total donations to various war funds since the first donation made in 1916 up to $26,000.

Following the address of the Chairman, Mr. H. W. Lester, routine resolutions were adopted and Mr. W. H. Barham, who becomes Chairman, was re-elected a director.

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS

The address of the Chairman was as follows:

In compliance with the Hongkong Companies Ordinance I will now read the auditors' certificate.

The dirtectors' report and statement of accounts having been in your hands for some days I will, with your permission, take them as read.

The balance of working account is $7,766.78 as against $12,483.75 for the previous year. The difference is largely accounted for by extensive repairs, renovations and painting which, in view of high prices ruling during the war, it was thought advisable to defer and much of which was accomplished during the year under review. The balance at the Credit of Profit and Loss Account is $8,653.14 which the directors propose shall be dealt with as follows:

DISTRIBUTIONS

To distribute to various Allied War Funds $4,000 as follows:

British Consul General	$1,000
French Consul General	$1,000
Belgian Consul General	$1,000
Italian Consul General	$500
Portuguese Consul General	$250
Russian Benevolent Society	$250
	$4,000

With these donations the total sum handed over by the company to the various allied war funds is now brought to a total of $26,000 since the first donation was made in 1916.

It is further proposed to carry $1,000 to a special reserve account and to carry forward $3,653.14 to the next account.

One of our reasons for carrying forward so large an amount to the next account is that the lease of the near nursery in Avenue Joffre expires in August next, and the whole of the buildings and stock are being removed to our own property in Route Pere Robert.

The expenses of such removal will be somewhat heavy, but the directors feel that considerable benefit will ensure from having the whole of our glass houses in one place under the close supervision of our European gardener, who lives in the premises, and that the expenditure will soon be justified.

As you are aware Mr. C. W. Wrightson was Chairman of the company up to the time of his death, and Mr. Barham, who was always his right hand man and who has taken the keenest interest in the company from its commencement, has consented to be his successor; I have therefore very much pleasure in handing over the reins to him which I only took up during the time he was at home on leave.

Colonel Gulick And Wife Get Big Send-off At Peking

(Asia News Service)

Peking, June 28.—Colonel L. M. Gulick, for the past two years Commandant of the American Legation Guard, and Mrs. Gulick left here by yesterday morning's Shanghai express en route to the United States. Their send-off was one of the biggest ever given to the foreigner leaving Peking, detachments from the Peking Chinese garrison and from all of the Legation Guards being present as guards of honor, while representatives from every Legation and a large number of Chinese and foreign residents of Peking were on hand to bid the American colonel and his wife good-bye.

As the train left the station the Chinese Naval Band played "Auld Lang Syne," the various national detachments presented arms and every civilian on the platform cheered Colonel and Mrs. Gulick on their way.

From Peking Colonel Gulick went to Taishan for a brief holiday. He and Mrs. Gulick will proceed from there to Shanghai late this week and finally go on to Japan for a fortnight's sightseeing. Their steamer leaves Japan for the United States in the latter part of July; and upon their arrival in America they will report to Marine Headquarters in Washington.

Thomas Hanbury School Has Closing Exercises

At the closing of the term of the Thomas Hanbury School for Boys the Headmaster, Mr. A. J. Stewart, introduced Dr. H. Couper Patrick, the representative of the St. Andrew's Society, and said that although the boys had not done particularly well at the recent examination for the St. Andrew's Bursary, yet the Society had kindly presented books for the boys who had entered.

Dr. Patrick said that he had much pleasure in being present at the closing exercises and took the opportunity to present books on behalf of the Society to the three competitors.

Dr. Patrick spoke at length on the work of the Society and said its aims were to encourage Scottish children to have specialised knowledge of the land of their forefathers and also to teach Scotsmen to help themselves. Scotland although a small country, comparatively poor in wealth and products, produced men and women who led in educational and industrial affairs throughout the world. The Scottish people were second to none in educational matters, he said.

Dr. Patrick's remarks were heartily applauded, after which a short musical program was given by the pupils.

The headmaster then announced the results of the examination given by the Shanghai Horticultural Society, as follows:

SENIORS

1st prize. J. Peach (major).
2nd prize. R. Artindale.

INTERMEDIATE

1st prize. T. Sofoulis.
2nd prize. J. Peach (minor).

JUNIORS

1st prize. I. Dubinsky.
2nd prize S. Harvey.

Pitman's shorthand certificates, class teacher's tests, were awarded to 23 pupils of the Upper School on the results of the recent shorthand examination. All made over 90 percent marks.

At the Swimming Sports held at the Public Swimming Bath on the 29th, the following points were obtained by the respective houses: Tennyson, 33; Ruskin, 21; Browning, 13; Carlyle, 11.

Out of 35 boys who entered the Draughts tournament, C. Schlager was the victor: winning 11 games out of 15. In the Chess tournament, G. Livchitz won eight games out of nine.

The Headmaster in dismissing the School for the vacation said that the good results of the half term's work were due to the untiring efforts of the masters and mistresses, who had to achieve results by hard work and tact. The language difficulty had also to be overcome—a very important matter in training boys for the University locals. The fact of its being a boarding school necessitated the assistant masters being always on duty and he greatly appreciated the work in this direction.

St. Mary's Hall News Notes

The Commencement Exercises were held on Thursday, June 23, in the school garden, many friends from Shanghai being present. After a short program, of which the principal item was a stirring address by Dr. Mary Stone on "Nursing as a Vocation," fifteen girls received diplomas for completing the High School course.

At the exercises Miss Vong Zauwaung, president of the Alumnae for the past year, made the announcement that the China Building fund has now reached more than $25,000. Of this sum, $433 was contributed by the graduating class, the proceeds of a delightful play which they staged on June 11, instead of preparing the usual formal Class Day Exercises for the day before Commencement.

The Phoenix, St. Mary's Annual, was issued a few days before the closing and is of especial interest this year, giving a vivid picture of the many student activities.

School will reopen on Tuesday, September 6, for the fall term. Chinese examinations being given on that day, and English on that following. Regular classes will start on Thursday, the eighth.

Harbin Papers Disapprove Pact

(Dalta News Agency)

Harbin, June 28.—In connection with the publication in the Novosti Jizni of a sensational agreement between Mr. Kojevnikoff, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs of Far Eastern Republic, and Mr. Shimada, of the Japanese Diplomatic Mission, granting Japan a number of special rights in the Russian Far East in exchange for the evacuation of Japanese forces from the Maritime Province and the non-interference of Russian affairs, the right press sounds its alarm, accusing Japan of unfaithfulness. The Russky Golos says that the Japanese, while remaining in certain relations with Semenoff, are in intercourse with the Priamur government and moreover are conducting secret negotiations with the Far Eastern Republic.

The "Soviet," while venting its wrath at the granting of special privileges to the Japanese by the Chita Government, advises Japan at times to occupy the Maritime Province without entering into any agreement with Chita.

The Japanese paper, Mir, while denying the truth of the agreement, points out the tactless publication of secret agreements; and then, publishing the text of the agreement in full, it proceeds to say that the conditions of same will be noted by Japan in its negotiations with Far Eastern Republic.

The Novosti Jizni confirming the agreement by a telegram of Japanese Information Bureau from Tokio about the departure of a commission for preparing the evacuation of Japanese forces, writes: "Pursuing a practical policy, Japan is forced to change her tactics by abandoning its Maritime adventure and reaching an agreement with the real Russian forces in the Far East, the Chita Government."

SILESIA TO LOSE ALL OF ITS VALUE AS ASSET FOR WAR

Sovereignty In Division Of Territory Subject To Conditions Under Allied Plan

COAL TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Production Not Needed By Germany And Poland Would Go To Central Europe

BY CHARLES H. GRASTY

Paris, May 28.—Two months ago, when politicians and journalists were all seeing red and predicting occupation of the Ruhr as a preliminary to destroying Germany, the alternative of an economic settlement was being calmly and confidently considered in Reparation Commission circles. These counsels afterward prevailed in London It is significant that in the same well-informed circles discussion is now proceeding which ignores the inflammatory reports of boundary differences in Upper Silesia so much agitated in the press and Parliaments and seeks a permanent solution mainly economic and fair to all interests.

A political consideration that cannot be overlooked even by the economists is the just demand of France that Germany should not be permitted to hold the mineral wealth of Upper Silesia as a basis either of future war, barter or armament—that she shall neither be allowed to use it to bribe or bulldoze central European countries into secret alliances with her nor make war arsenal of it. This consideration strictly harmonises with the economic plan for which studies are now being made.

If such a plan is adopted in essence it is believed it will not greatly matter whether German or Polish sovereignty extends a few miles further one way or the other While sovereignty is a satisfaction to national pride neither side will care so much if it does not carry with it some sort of selfish advantage. From the economic viewpoint—and this must always be the base upon which permanent political considerations rest—the paramount question in settlement is to prevent the future use of Silesian coal as a war asset and preserve and develop these resources for scores of millions of population dependent upon them for economic life.

Advocates of an economic settlement see a favorable opportunity for business-like methods in present conditions. British, Italian and American predisposition is in this direction, and these countries can be depended on for their influence unless French interests or sensibilities are strongly opposed. The success of Briand's policy was to put chauvinism under, for the time being at least, and there seems strong probability that the treaty terms will be interpreted with moderation and far-seeing self interest.

The powers who have not to decide are required under the treaty to take into account the wishes of the Upper Silesian people as expressed in the plebiscite. If it were necessary to decide by communes and wall off Polish and German areas by hard and fast boundaries, the situation would be hopeless. Coal and ore would be separated. One part would have minerals but no water, and another water but no use for it. Transportation would be cut up and rendered impractical, and so on throughout.

Literally, to carry out the plebiscite by communes, would be to render practically worthless before apportioning it one of the most valuable and prosperous industrial territories in the world. But the treaty provides for this very contingency. It requires that political and geographical lines shall be fixed in accordance with the plebiscite as interpreted by the powers, and that economic considerations shall be taken into account.

The Supreme Council can therefore apportion the territory and make an apportionment, in accordance by the powers, that will assure the distribution of coal and prevent the use of Silesian resources for warlike purposes. The requirements of the treaty will thus be followed with scrupulous exactness These conditions could be expressed in a protocol, leaving only administrative titles to whatever authority supervised the subsequent workings.

IMPORTANT EFFECTS OF PLAN

To single out several important effects of such a plan, any danger which exists of sinister cooperation between Germany and Russia would be greatly diminished if it were no longer in Germany's power to make discriminatory engagements based on the Silesian coal supply. The protocol itself would roughly indicate how the supply not needed by Germany and Poland should be distributed, and this distribution would be based on careful study of the needs of Austria, Hungary and the session States as well as of Germany and Poland themselves. Germany and Poland would have respective sovereignties, but would get them subject to these conditions.

In this open field there would be competition, and whatever might be the sovereignty, the actual development would naturally pass into the hands of those best able to carry it on. This would be advantageous for the more experienced and better financed Germans but this is something the Pole would have to try in time to stand up against.

Sentiment in the last few days has been veering toward greater liberality to Poland, especially in view of the economic freedom which would lessen the value of sovereignty and give proper play to individual competition. It is probable that in addition to Pless and Rybnick, and apart from territory that may be held for future assignment after further investigation Poland will receive a considerable portion of the rich coal field near Kattowitz.

It is in this field that are located the two big mines producing 2,000 tons of coal per annum which have heretofore been placed on the Polish side of the line in discussion of the probable boundary. It is recognised that while the Polish territory of Pless and Rybnick contains two-thirds of the entire coal in the ground in Upper Silesia, on account of its depth it will mostly remain a "reserve" until the richer deposits nearer the surface are exhausted.

RAILROAD PROBLEM TO BE

Another highly desirable feature of the economic settlement would be terms for control of the railroads in the country after division Otherwise Germany could not reach Central Europe except over Polish roads and Poland in turn might be compelled to build enormously expensive new lines in order to get her Silesian freight out to Posen

Owing to the absence of any provision in the treaty to deal with the railroads of Central Europe as a single unit, there has been terrible loss and confusion. In Silesia, however, it will be possible to require an interchange of shipping facilities as a condition of receiving sovereignty.

While the above details have not yet come to the forefront of the discussion I cable them believing that the economic tendencies are now much stronger than they were ten days prior to the London settlement. It is admitted, moreover, that American influence, which was potent if carefully reserved in bringing about the proposal and acceptance of the London terms, could be effectively exerted now in somewhat the same manner without ruffling France. On the contrary it would probably play Briand's hand for Washington to encourage an economic settlement I have heard comment in quarters usually informed regarding the American standpoint that a peaceful issue in Upper Silesia would furnish an example in concrete of heretofore cryptic assurance of helpfulness to Europe coupled with keeping clear of the League of Nations.

BANKS Are a Great Convenience to BUSINESS—So Are TELEPHONES! So Are the "WANT COLUMNS" of THE CHINA PRESS!

The "wants" and "needs" of the MULTITUDE are expressed through the WANT ad, and BUSINESS "O. Ks." the idea!

The THOUSAND and ONE items all the while coming up through the manifold activities of the community's daily life, such items as call for applied Printers' Ink—gravitate toward the WANT PAGE OF THE CHINA PRESS naturally as WATER finds its way down hill.

If you want HELP; if you want to buy or SELL; if you're in the market to own or rent a HOME; if you wish a PARTNER, or a LOAN with which to EXPAND YOUR BUSINESS, or any one of many other things, it's all the same! A little ad under the proper classification, setting forth your need, will quicky FILL that need at trifling cost—and send you on your way rejoicing!

By all means TRY it—the VERY NEXT TIME! Once tried, a FRIEND FOR LIFE of the "WANT AD."

Exchange Fluctations

Asia Banking Corporation

June 30, 1921

Spot and forward bar silver were each up 5/8d. in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 59½ cents and the London-New York cross rate declined to 374.

The official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday with the exception of the Gold Dollar rate which was dropped to 64½ and the Rupee rate raised to 270.

The market was steady throughout the day, business in Sterling being done as high as 3/6¾ for near, 3/6½ for July and 3/6⅝ for August and in Gold Dollars at about 66½.

These were rates at which the great bulk of the business was done yesterday and the market was very much along yesterday's lines, being again very quiet and featureless.

China bought silver in London yesterday and while any material rise in prices there is hardly likely for the time, being yet the tone of the market seems to be quite steady.

Tomorrow and Friday being bank holidays no further business will be done until Monday, July 4.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follow in their freight market report of yesterday:

The situation in our Outward Freight markets is as follows:

TO UNITED KINGDOM AND CONTINENT

The improvement referred to in our last issue has been maintained, though the recent rise in exchange has not been without its effect on export business.

As a "signs of the times" freights have hardened since we wrote last and conference rates on certain grains and cereals have been increased by about 30 percent and on oils by about 15 percent as from May 25 while the rate on the various kinds of seeds has been brought into line in a more regular ratio. The upward tendency of the Dalny charter rate continues.

TO U.S. VIA PACIFIC AND VIA PANAMA AND SUEZ

There is no change to report on these berths and, if anything, there is less cargo offering than a forthnight ago.

COASTWISE

The improvement on the North continues and there has been a brisk demand for tonnage from the Northern Ports whilst the trade from River Ports also shows signs of improvement.

Coal Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their coal market report of yesterday:

JAPAN COAL

Our local coal market continues very dull as is only to be expected at this season of the year and there is practically no enquiry for coal worth speaking of; we are afraid this state of affairs is likely to last until the Autumn.

The coal market in Japan remains steady.

FUSHUN COAL

No change.

FUCHUNG ANTHRACITE COAL

This market is quiet and there is nothing special to report but at Hankow sales have been more active during the past fortnight.

KAIPING COAL

Very little new business has been transacted during the past fortnight, although arrivals and sales under existing contracts have been well maintained. Consignments of the cheaper grade quickly pass into consumption whilst stocks of the better class are heavier than usual.

Finds Passports Are Trade Barriers

Red Tape Retards Resumption And Also Affects Tourist Travel

Geneva, May 20.—I have recently visited France and the North of Italy to enquire into international trade conditions there. I have also made it a point to enquire from old export firms in Switzerland as to the cause of the slackness of international trade and the slowness of its resumption.

Although many reasons were alleged for these misfortunes, yet the one to which, I should say, nine merchants, manufacturers and exporting firms out of ten attributed most of the trouble was the system of passport regulations. I pointed out that no commercial man in Switzerland or Italy, wishing to go to England or the United States to buy goods, would have any difficulty in getting a vise to his passport from a British consulate. This was admitted, but it was objected that only a firm doing a large business would find it worth while to go through the necessary formalities and incur the inevitable expenses. For every large business firm which takes out a passport indeed, there are hundreds of smaller firms that would sometimes visit other countries if it were not for the passport plague.

Even a resident in Switzerland must now present himself every year before what are called the "Foreigners' Police," and report himself and his household and even his Swiss maid, as if he were a ticket-of-leave man, at the same time paying for the privilege of having his time wasted and waiting his turn to be attended to in a room among a crowd of people, some of them consumptive and most of them malodorous.

The nuisance, however, is not confined to Switzerland where probably it will be swept away by the force of public opinion before it is abolished in other countries. Switzerland before the war had 4,000,000 tourists annually, and she cannot afford entirely to sacrifice them—not even for the sake of providing jobs for any number of rubber stampers.

The War In The South

BY JOSEF W. HALL

(Peking Correspondent of THE CHINA PRESS)

THE development which has taken place in Kwangtung and Kwangsi is certain to have an important reaction upon the Peking government. Peking has been worried over the situation in the South and the Yangtsze Valley since the "escape" of "Little" Hsu Shu-cheng from the Japanese Legation. It believes that the sudden breaking out of open war between Sun Yat-sen and Lu Yung-ting was engineered by this Anfu leader and his lieutenants, under the direction and support of the Japanese. The upshot is likely to be that the ruling clique in Peking as usual, will decide that the only way to fight fire is with fire, and will turn to the only hope now held before it of maintaining its power: the Japanese. Either way Japan wins, and she seems destined, through her old game, that of encouraging both factions, to regain in the near future her predominance of two years ago in Chinese internal politics.

That Peking is utilising Japanese assistance is intimated by its use of a Japanese vessel to carry from Pukow to South China the cargo of ammunition and $750,000 in silver bullion which it is attempting to forward to General Lu Yung-ting. Whether these supplies would enable Lu to hold out against the Cantonese if they reached him is doubtful, and it is still more unlikely that any port safe from Cantonese intervention can be found at which to discharge them.

It may be asked why the Canton-Kwangsi fight should amount to anything more than a local issue, and why it should seriously affect Peking at all. The answer is prestige. No ruling clique in Peking can maintain its position against the outnumbering opposition who are ever seeking to oust it through a serious loss of face. The clique composing the present government last fall staked its prestige on the so-called accomplishment of reunion between north and south, meaning the reconciliation with Lu Yung-ting, of Kwangsi. It was upon this basis that a call for a re-election of parliament was issued.

Constantly since that time Peking has, through the news agencies which habitually accept for transmission the communiqués and "confidential information" of the various government offices, assured the world that China was fast approaching reunion, that province after province was feeling its way back under the wing of the Peking government.

Instead of making good these claims Peking finds itself threatened with as widespread an alienation of the provinces as confronted it during the second revolution. The South, the Yangtsze Valley from Chekiang to Hupeh, Shensi and Kansu are involved.

Sun Yat-sen is likely to find himself upon the peak of prosperity. His well-wishers trust that since fate has given him the uncommon opportunity of "trying it again," he will be able to profit from past mistakes. If, however, he be indebted to Anfu assistance for his victories, it will be very difficult for him to bring anything progressive out of them.

The silver lining to it all is that, with a serious threat in the south, the long-expected outbreak between the rival powers in the north is likely to be deferred, and Peking sees more prospect than it has for some months past of getting through the summer without a siege.

The Bailiff In Avenue Road

WHEN the bailiff comes in and in the name of the law, and for whatever reason, throws the family and its poor belongings out into the street and seals up the doors of the little home, tears must rain from on high. But when the bailiff, in the name of the law, enters a street and evicts fifteen families, numbering a hundred or more persons, men women and children, together with their household goods and the stock in trade of their shops and it is learned after the evictions, that the court either has made a mistake or has been imposed upon, that these people had paid their rents and were in possession of their receipts for same, and that in addition they had, in some cases deposited large sums with their landlord as guarantees, the matter becomes one not only for tears from or high but for investigation here below.

How did this Avenue Road outrage come to happen? Some one had absconded, it appears. Was the court aware of this? If not, who was it that failed to acquaint the court with the facts? Why weren't these Chinese shopkeepers called upon to exhibit their rent receipts? But for the intervention of kind-hearted foreigners, the matter would have taken a much more serious turn. We recommend to the American Woman's Club, to the British Women's Association and to similar organisations, investigation of this case, and that they make a public report on it, in order that such an event may not recur. Meanwhile, we offer this letter, as a further commentary:

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: It seems unfortunate just at the present juncture of Chinese political and domestic unrest that the following circumstances should have arisen Tuesday afternoon to upset the even tenor of the daily lives of honest and peace loving Chinese small shopholders in that portion of Avenue Road which lies eastward of Medhurst road about three hundred yards, where the occupants of more than a dozen small shops were officially evicted together with their belongings,' on short notice, in what seemed an unfair and arbitrary manner, to say nothing of the obstruction to traffic due to this sudden exodus of probably a hundred persons including babies, old men and women, with their personal and professional effects, heavy furniture etc., into our already too narrow roads, all these goods being piled up against a neighboring fence. The whole created a forlorn aspect resembling scenes "somewhere in France" during the War. There they remained from early afternoon until about 10:30 p.m., in a damp atmosphere whilst rain and resentment clouds gathered, with frequent reference to the rice shop trouble in the near future. It was this latter aspect especially which decidedly called for prompt action.

By 9 p.m. an appeal to one who has Chinese villages at heart evoked the suggestion to communicate with the Police by phone which resulted in the information that the matter was receiving attention. At 9:45 p.m. returning to the scene of trouble only to find the evicted tenants surrounded by murmuring groups of sympathising friends, and as rain drops were threatening another downpour, the matter was referred to the foreign owner of adjacent property backing onto Avenue road who was most forcibly struck at his first sight of this appalling negligence, and instantly suggested that his spacious garage be cleared and the women, babies and children be housed therein for the night. Due to this act of generous kindness a lot of misery was averted, but there were still the boys and men to be cared for, at nearly 10 p.m. Just about this time a foreign policeman arrived posthaste on a bicycle and declared his utter inability to help the situation. Finally came a visit to the nearby home of an influential Chinese gentleman who got in touch by phone with the powers that be, who agreed to allow a few shops to be opened for shelter purposes and to avert a miserable night in the soaking rain which fell before dawn, pending further investigation. This is the true version of one side of the question and beyond this the whole procedure was apparently only too well protected within the limits of the law, which of course must always take its course, but at such a sacrifice as to appear absolutely inhuman.

I am Sir, yours faithfully,

W. C. H. Knight.

TENSE TENNIS

Tennis, as a game, I have always regarded as too energetic. Years ago I did endeavor to become proficient at pingpong; but as the last time I played necessitated a week in bed owing to a cut head through fouling the manteipiece, and a burnt back through sitting on the fire, I eschewed the pastime for one of more leisured calm.

When, however, the other morning my seventeen-year-old lad, Billy, announced his intention of joining the local tennis club, I thought that perhaps I was growing old too quickly, and ought to give the lad moral support by joining the club with him. I said so; and Billy's face dropped so low that if he hadn't had his knees closed he would have bitten his bootlace.

"What do you want to join a tennis club for, dad?" asked Billy.

"To keep an eye on you, my boy!" I replied jocularly. "I know these tennis clubs!" I added slyly.

"Do you really!" remarked my wife Emily, who had just entered the room with the breakfast kippers.

"From repute, my dear!" I said hurriedly. "Billy is a susceptible boy, and with so many charming young girls about, flushed with the excitement of the game, looking so perfectly delightful in their thin summer frocks, with their hair blown about over their white brows, and their——"

"That is quite sufficient, Albert!" remarked Emily coldly. "Your kipper is getting chilly, and if you want to gaze on a flushed face you can watch me do the week's ironing tonight!"

I was just going to explain my point, when I found the one belonging to a kipper-bone, and had to pause for a moment.

"Well," said Billy, taking advantage of my helpless condition, "he'll be able to play croquet with old Smith; he's played ever since the Crimea, and will be able to give dad a pretty hot game!"

I was so indignant that I nearly bit my finger off.

"I shall play no croquet!" I exclaimed heatedly. "I shall join for tennis; and tennis I shall play!"

Notwithstanding a good deal of opposition, I had my way; and, bribing Billy to friendliness by paying his subscription as well as my own, I bought a pair of flannel trousers somewhat long in the "turn-up," a racquet with a fish-tail grip, and a pair of white boots with the severest cork-screw toe pinch I have ever endured.

On the first Saturday afternoon after joining Billy and I arrived at the ground with beating hearts. At least, mine was; Billy appeared rather aloof.

"I don't expect there will be a court vacant!" he muttered.

I glanced at Billy doubtfully.

"What do you mean by court, Billy," I asked. "Tennis has nothing to do with the law."

"Oh, no!" replied my son. "But those marks on each side of the net are called the court; each player has his own square, you see!"

I grasped the fact at once.

"To be sure!" I agreed; "like ludo."

Billy sighed; the lad seemed tired.

"Yes," he replied. "Only different!"

Contrary to Billy's expectations there was a court vacant; and also two ladies who said they wanted a set.

I was a little uncertain as to what it was they wanted a set of; but discovered after a few minutes that they referred to a stipulated number of games. This set my mind at rest, as I had been half afraid they desired us to present them with some more or less costly gift, and I knew my wife would have objected to such a procedure.

My partner was the curate's wife—I should have preferred her friend, a fascinating, artless child from all appearances—but Emily had threatened that she was coming to look on, so I thought it only polite to attach myself to the elder of the two ladies.

I was extremely thankful I had come to this decision when, just as I was going to serve—the professional term for knocking the ball over the net, you know—I noticed that my wife had arrived, and was regarding me with a critical eye.

Billy had shown me where to stand, and, with a lightning-like scooping movement, I sent the ball high into the air. It came to earth just on the other side of the net. Billy dashed forward to return it; but so masterly was the stroke that it bounced over the lad's head.

"Our point!" remarked the curate's wife.

"How many is that?" I asked, tingling with pleasure.

"Fifteen, love!" she remarked, with the utmost calm.

I shuddered at this exhibition of forwardness, and, glancing at my wife, saw by the dithering of the tassel on her hat that she was trembling with outraged dignity.

Although rather startled, I didn't really object to terms of endearment, so, turning to my partner with a smile, remarked:

"Quite a good start, darling!"

The curate's wife, to my surprise, flinched, and regarded me with a severe eye. But I didn't mind, and banged the next two knocks over the net so hard that Billy and his partner missed them.

A warm glow of pride filled my heart, and when my partner remarked, with a joyful twinkle in her eyes, "Forty, love!" I should have been ecstatically happy if I had not again caught sight of my wife's face.

There was murder on every line of it, and I became so rattled that I knocked the next six balls into the wrong square.

"Deuce!" exclaimed the curate's wife simply.

Her evident disgust at my bungling play put me on my metal, and I struck the next ball with such force that it bounced on the net-post, and then, rico-cheting, knocked Emily's hat off.

A look of alarm appeared on the curate's wife's face; but I was not to be thwarted in my resolution to show the stuff of which I was made.

The rest of the set was a whirl of movement; I had no idea whether we were losing or winning; but I did my best. Every time a ball came anywhere near me I rushed at it; if I didn't always hit it, it was only because the curate's wife got between my racquet and the ball.

She spoke to me once or twice regarding accidental blows I had given her; but I excused myself on the score of eagerness to win; and then, suddenly, that careless lad Billy served a particularly hard ball right into my eye.

I was pained beyond words—at least, beyond any words I could use in present company; but my fighting blood was roused, and as my lad sent his next ball over I made a dash at it.

NON-INTERFERENCE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir:—That the Municipal Council's decision to license rice shops has for its object, the good of the Chinese community, at large, is clear to every sensible Chinese. The reason why the rice dealers are not satisfied with the Council's decision, lies in the fact that the Chinese have always considered government interference of any kind as undesirable. Chinese statesmen like San-Yan of the Feudal Age and Wang Au-shuh of the Sung Dynasty were indeed great reformers but owing to the general unrest, resulting from their reforms, they failed to attain their object. As a result of their political reforms, the Chinese have believed, from that time, that the best policy for any government to adopt is that of non-interference, a policy that not only is worthy of the attention of the Municipal Council in dealing with the Chinese, but also is approved by a large section of European and American political philosophers as a good political means to be adopted in dealing with their own people. I am, Yours respectfully,

Tu Gee-chun.

Why Not Trade With Russia?

BY SENATOR REED

(The following remarks of Mr. James A. Reed, Senator from Missouri, in favor of the resumption of trade between Russia and America are taken from the Congressional Record, April 29, 1921.)

THERE are 180,000,000 people in Russia. They never did a warlike act against the people of the United States. Some four to six million of their sons went to their deaths in the early days of the European war, and if they had not stretched their bones upon the plains and in the swamps and died the death, Germany would have overwhelmed France and England and Italy. They were under the most tyrannical and most inexcusable government existing in all the world, an absolute autocracy, under which 1 percent of the people owned substantially all of the property and lands.

Until a few years ago 70,000,000 of them were serfs, attached to the soil, and passed with the land, as the cattle and the houses and the fences passed. That was their state until the decree of Alexander released the serfs. But when they were released it was under such conditions as to make it impossible for them to acquire property in any considerable amounts, except through the long course of the toilsome years. What have you to say of that government which, in the gentle sunlight of modern civilisation, still chained white men to the soil and drove men, women, children, and babies, without trial, and in herds into exile in Siberia; who enforced decrees with the knout laid on the naked backs until the flesh dropped from the bones? At the beginning of this war and in this our twentieth century 90 percent of the people of this autocratic government could not read or write, were practically without any education, reared in ignorance, driven as beasts, lashed like cattle, destroyed without mercy, ridden down by the iron-shod hoofs of the aristocrats, and brought to that condition of intellectual servitude and ignorance and bestiality by their oppressors.

DEALT WITH TSARIST RUSSIA

Although this story was known to all the world and to our Government, we not only traded with Russia but we made treaties of amity with her, and we sent congratulatory telegrams on the birthdays of her Tsars, and we treated her as a brother in the family of nations.

What mattered it to us if they denied all constitutional rights? What mattered it to us if the rule was the rule of the bayonet? What mattered it to us if children were born to creep and crawl through this life in the lowest strata of existence, where there was not a single flicker from the lamp of intelligence permitted to reach them? We traded with them. We made treaties with them.

The ignorant people at last rose against their masters and they set up the kind of government which you might expect ignorant men to set up. It was not ideal. It outraged many principles of finance and economics. But it is a government at least that has established tens of thousands of schools. For the first time in the history of Russia there is such a thing as a public school. For the first time in the history of Russia the common man is permitted to hold aloft the torch of learning. For the first time into the night of ignorance and superstition and fear there comes the faint glimmer of the dawn of a better day.

Now, because they have not set up just the kind of government we would set up, our Secretary of State declares that we will not trade with these 180,000,000 people.

REASONS DECLINING TRADE

Two reasons are assigned: One is that they have nothing to trade with and the other is that we do not like their form of government. As for the first, which I believe emanated from that high and almost sacred authority, Mr. Hoover, that they have nothing to trade with, I denounce that as so ridiculous and puerile that it is a disgrace to a white man to stand here to refute it. To say that

The following translation from the Chinese is possibly the oldest drinking-song in the world.

The dew is heavy on the grass,
At last the sun is set.
Fill up, fill up the Cups of Jade,
The night's before us yet!

All night the dew will heavy lie
Upon the grass and clover.
Too soon, too soon, the dew will dry,
Too soon the night be over!

Why Not Trade With Russia?

nearly 200,000,000 people, occupying a territory nearly four times as great as the United States, rich in every resource of the earth except the fruits of the forest, with mighty herds of cattle and horses, with vast wheat fields, with the richest furs there are in the world, with mineral wealth, to say that these people have nothing to trade with is an absurdity which could only have come from the lips of a Hoover.

I have a friend, a man of great intelligence, who spent 10 months in Russia, attached to the American forces as an intelligence officer, and who was on the commission permitted to go back of the Russian lines to examine the condition of American prisoners. He said that he saw bales and bales and bales of the costliest furs of the Arctic and of the Russian northland lying there awaiting shipment, and that there was a clamor for tools, instruments of industry and husbandry.

'MALTREATMENT' CHARGED

Let me tell you another awful story. This will stir your blood; it will make every red corpuscle stand up ready to fight; it will outrage your souls when you hear about the treatment of these American prisoners. This friend of mine said they were quartered in the homes of the people; that they had as good beds as anybody else; that they got 25 percent more rations than the citizens—the same amount as the soldiers of the Russian army; that they were permitted to go about town wherever they pleased—to the theaters and moving-picture shows—and all they had to do was to report at a certain hour at night. This treatment they received from the brutal men who have been pictured to us in such black words!

Now we are told we must not trade with them. Russian gold has been brought here, and they have asked to be permitted to purchase. We have been told that somewhere, some time, somehow, some Russian got some gold which belonged to sometody else, and that we cannot trade with them until that gold is paid back. In other words, we are to constitute ourselves, among other things the collecting agency for other countries of Europe and get an abstract of title to every bit of gold that is offered here.

I am not speaking on behalf of the Russians, nor should I want to say I care nothing for the Russians, for I hope I care a little for all of God's creatures, however humble and however ignorant. I am considering this question from the standpoint of the interests of the United States.

With 4,000,000 laborers, we are told, out of employment today, and with Russians here wanting to buy American products, with cotton at prices that bring tears to the eyes of my southern friends—and I do not blame them for weeping—why should we deny ourselves a market where there are 200,000,000 men wanting that cotton? Why should it be denied by the arbitrary decree of a Secretary of State plus a Secretary of Commerce? Why should we not sell to these people plows with which to turn over their soil? Why should we not sell them threshing machines and reapers and binders with which to harvest and prepare their crops? Why should we not send them cotton goods? Why should we not send them machinery for their mills?

Is it because they have no money? Then we do not have to trade until they produce the money and pay it in hard coin on the soil of the United States.

You will not trade with them because you do not like their morals or their form of government? Let me answer that; bad as is their government today, and I abominate many of its principles, it is the best government Russia has ever had and the most humane. I care not if they have confiscated the property. They did no worse than the aristocrats who took all the land. I care not if they divide among 85 percent of the people the property that formerly belonged to 1 percent. That is better than to have it held by the 1 percent who never had any other title except the title of the sword and never had any other right except the right of brute force. Of course, I do not believe in confiscation, but this kind of confiscation is better than the condition that preceded it.

BARBARISM NO BAR TO TRADE

When in the past have we refused to trade with people whose morals or religion or government did not suit us? Why, the first thing the Pilgrim Fathers did after they handed here and read a chapter in the Bible and thanked God for protection was to take out a string of beads and try to swap it to an Indian for about 100,000 acres of land. This Indian was a barbarian. He held his property in common. He did not live at all according to our rules, but we continued trading with him. We sold him knives with which he scalped us afterwards, and we asked no questions.

We have traded with the unspeakable Turk. It did not make any difference to us when he sold him a garment whether it was going to adorn the shoulders of a victim of the harem or whether it was to be a vestment of one who knelt toward Mecca and poured out his prayers to Allah. When we sent him steel we did not inquire into the state of his morals and we did not ask whether his government was constitutional or otherwise.

We traded with the Zulu, who comes to us stark naked with his bows and arrows and like barbaric weapons and who offers us something that we find to our advantage to take. We trade with the Patagonians, and, as has just been suggested by my friend the Senator from Georgia (Mr. Watson), who always sees a thing in its best form, we manufacture idols for idolators, and, I might add, wooden nutmegs for the unwary. When did it come to pass in this country that a Secretary of State plus a Secretary of Commerce could assume the power to cut off trade relations with 200,000,000 people?

SENT TO DIE IN RUSSIA

Now, behold, I show you another mystery. We were led into invading this country, which had not done us any harm, but we followed the armies of France and the armies of England and some of our boys sleep there in graves of eternal ice. But when at last these other countries were through we withdrew, and now the countries that led us into Russia, whose fortunes we followed there, who claimed to have the causes for war which we did not have, are trading with Russia.

Mr. President, I am going to print as part of my remarks an article appearing in the Chicago Tribune of Wednesday, April 27, 1921, showing the volume of Russian trade with England, Germany, and Sweden. It will be noted that this article alone accounts for an expenditure by Russia in England of over $800,000,000. It does not, therefore, seem that Russia's trade is so insignicant.

TRADE THE ONLY SOLUTION

If you desire to restore conditions in this country to the normal, it seems to me, while we may dispute about some things we ought not to dispute about the proposition that no shrewd Yankee will ever sell his goods anywhere unless he gets a price he thinks is beneficial to him, and that therefore if you will open the doors of the trade of the world to him and turn him loose he will take care of himself and he will bring back the money in the long run. But here we are with Senators protesting against declaring a formal state of peace with Germany, while France and England, particularly the latter, are trading with Germany and financing Germany. Then we find down at the other end of the Avenue the doors of the greatest country in point of natural resources and population in the world are closed to the products of American farms, American factories, American looms, and American genius.

Why? They are bolsheviks, it is said. What about bolshevism? Bolshevism is an idea. You cannot stop an idea with bullets. You cannot stop it with a tariff wall. You cannot stop it with a club. You can give respectability to a false idea by attempting such methods. You can make martyrs of its advocates. The only thing that stops an idea is another idea. On the intellectual battle fields the only arms are ideas. If these people have a doctrine that is false, as I believe it to be false, if they have a doctrine that is wicked because it will not work out justly, as I believe in that sense to be wicked, the way to meet that doctrine is not by running from it or trying to shoot it out of existence but to meet it with calm logic, and let it go, as many ideas went through the French Revolution, the way through trial to disaster and to ultimate destruction.

THE COMMON-SENSE POLICY

What we ought to do, is to insist on getting down to some plain, common-sense methods. If a man comes here from Russia with money and wants to buy a thousand threshing machines, let us put them on cars, send them to the coast, take them off and put them on boats, and start them over to him. Let us take the money and build some more machines and furnish some more labor for some more American citizens. If he wants to come here and buy cattle or sheep or anything else we have, let us pursue the same method. Let us do the same thing with Germany. Let us see to it that all the restrictions of commerce are removed.

TEXACO THUBAN COMPOUND
a liquid lubricant for—
Differentials, Worm Drives, and Transmissions of Automobiles

Texaco Thuban Compound is a heavy, mineral lubricant—not a grease.

It gives the best obtainable lubricating service because it sticks to gear teeth. No grade, speed, nor any other adverse condition will make "Thuban" sling off. It forms a protective cushion of oil which prevents metal contact when the gears mesh, thus reducing friction and increasing power. Notice the decrease of noise when "Thuban" is used. There is no clash and grind when the gears shift.

A very little "Thuban" goes a long way. You need only enough to bathe the gear teeth as they revolve in the power housing. This is because of its adhesive power which keeps a film on them at all times. "Thuban" is a real economy because you must use it sparingly for best results.
